CRITICAL PERSPECTIVES ON HUMAN RIGHTS
CONFERENCE | APRIL 17-19
2024, NYC

The Conference aims to explore the contested legacy of human rights in increasingly uncertain times. It seeks to foster dialogue and scholarship from a wide range of perspectives. Conference organizers invite papers from scholars and activists who continue to view the human rights project as a moral and ethical challenge to power as well as from those who see it as an enabler of political and economic domination. The Third Critical Perspectives on Human Rights Conference welcomes proposals that reassess the origins, foundations, and contemporary forms of human rights discourse, ideas, and practice today. Submission deadline is December 31, 2023.

Proposals within these thematic areas will receive priority consideration: Historical and Philosophical Foundations of Human Rights • Politics and Ethics of Human Rights Practice • Critical Theory and Human Rights • The Future(s) of Human Rights • Ableism, Disability, and Human Rights • Basic Needs, Socioeconomic Inequalities, and Human Rights • Changing Forms of Warfare and the Challenge to Human Rights • Education and Human Rights • Environment, Climate, and Human Rights • Gender, Sexuality, and Human Rights • Health and Human Rights • Labor and Human Rights • Media and Human Rights in the Digital Age • Migration and Human Rights • Race/Racism, Ethnicity, and Human Rights
